One of the joys of my job is the surprises embedded in visiting parts of the planet that carry with them images and identities that have been warped by dramatic and sometimes tragic events that have captured the attention of the whole world.

Herzegovina Highlights - Islamic Počitelj

Such was the case as I traveled with Scott through Herzegovina the past couple of days. My time is limited - we have much to do yet in the 24 hours before we leave Dubrovnik tomorrow, but I wanted to share this collage of Herzegovina with you, in photos at least.

Enjoy!

Note: Due to time limitations and logistical challenges, I can't guarantee that all of these places will be in the final itinerary. Details of the program are still under evaluation.
